ABOUT ME

I work as a Media Analyst for a leading media monitoring agency in Poland, specializing in internet, social media, press, radio, and television analysis. Currently, I am self-learning web app development with a goal for transitioning into a software development career. I have built a foundation in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and PHP, and really enjoy building and deploying web applications. Eager to combine my academic training, practical experience and freshly acquired programming skills to contribute to innovative tech projects.
